

Why Mothers Die 2000-2002 (November 2005)

ERRATUM

Chapter 18 - Issues for Midwives

Page 248, Recommendations Point 4 should read:

'...In some cases this may require the development of more flexible antenatal care systems and access to medical services; for instance, it may help understanding of the cultural influences on a woman's choice for care to have close liaison with family friends or religious leaders. In these complex cases it is essential that the midwife has close contact with her statutory supervisor of midwives.'